

Wang Chung, Don't Be My Enemy

(Jack Hues / Darren Costin / Nick Feldman)

You had your dreams

You required a scheme of things

That evolved and resolved through the years

And I had my part

(When you wrote me out)

But you broke my heart

(When you wrote me out)

Now you spend your whole time trying

To burn me to the ground

Chorus:

Don't be my enemy

Can't you see

What you're doing to me

Don't be my enemy

Can't you see

What an effect this is having on me?

I had a thought

It was just a simple thought

Of a friend, very close, very clear

But then it stopped looking so straight

(When you wrote me out)

You found the hate

(When you wrote me out)

Now you spend your whole time trying to make

Me look like your main fool

Repeat Chorus
