(Music-Hubbard, Laskowski/Lyrics-Hubbard, Orne)

The narcotic priest vows vengeance Upon the righteous, with chalice held high Crushed by the cross held to dear Betrayed by their faith as they cry

Communion complete, the masses helpless Servents in the eyes of the new god The temple resounds with hymns of allegience On your knees and witness the birth of a king

Black acid dreams, the moon turns to blood Black acid dreams, the deafening silence

The mind's eye weeps the blood of a thousand ancients A chasm of infinity awaits, helpless and broken A serpent's kiss, eyes of blood, wings of fire Follow him to the Anti-Eden, Piper of the wicked

Black acid concubine, your soul is mine Melting temples echo with the hymns of doom Prophecies become existance Cower and behold the death of hope
