

Warren Zanes, Did You Recognize My Love?

Love was kinda mean to me walked upon my heart and this town was just a scene to me 'til you came along and broke down walls you were shining like a misplaced star then it was just a dream to me whenever you walked by I'd kinda freeze but behind that frozen face you'd see I was flying where I used to crawl over buildings over miles of malls did you recognize my love? In the city sometimes these things pass us by but did you recognize my love? sounds silly, I was down one block and up one mile and I caught you shining like a misplaced star first you were on my block then you were on my mind when you showed up in town you set a world on fire no volunteers to put me out when you walked by did you recognize my love?
