Watchtower, Dangerous Toy

Music: Jarsombec, Keyser Lyrics: Jarsombec Can a device read your mind? To be accused of misinformation Is the subject clean, and machine Guilty of distorted imagination? A psychological change Assumes relation to the act of deceit Not legally accepted Human judgement is considered A pleading man Resists malicious observation The electric chair misinterprets lies detected A voluntarily accepted examination His freedoms, rights, and privacy neglected Could a dangerous toy be infallible? An assembly in a state of suspense Why should we account for its mistakes And suffer the consequence? A question of Control Will produce the fear of anxiety Further abuse of security We ignore implications for a free society The slightest glitch proves fatal - if swallowed Calculated emotions and expressions Claims of accuracy diminish Inconclusive evidence left to its discretion
