

Waterdeep, Not Enough Time

My father told me never to fear
All of the darkness that I see down here
He said not to worry, you'll be okay
Just don't become a part of the deadly game

And if you're troubled by all the hate
Don't look aside, stare it in the face
You can love them like you should
Love all the people that have so misunderstood

Don't wait for the night to fall in on you
There's not enough time

Your simple please are not enough
To keep the rain from pouring in
The mindless stone your clinging to
Will turn into a boulder
It barely rests above your head
So soon it will be falling

Don't wait for the night to fall in on you
There's not enough time

The little stone you bow down to
Can never calm your anger
Millions of charms that "detour harm"
Can't make your joy forever
The stars just fall down from the sky
No wish you make will be granted

Don't wait for the night to fall in on you
There's not enough time
