

Waterdown, The One Thing

i lost connection to everything i have the last time i saw you it was just coincidence and you did not seem to be too interested so i left without goodbye i was fine all by myself that is what you took from me now i just can't stand the crowds and i can't be alone no more everytime that i am alone i can't help seeing your face everytime i got nothing to do i find myself thinking of you the one thing i can do is to never stop moving to keep me mind a high speed constantly