

Watershed, Yesterday Again

Here we go

Yesterday again, and I dont know where to run to Just as you think the things are changing its yesterday again
Its yesterday again time must be standing still I think it is time for me to settle down its Yesterday again cos I dont know whats in store for me

And I dont think I care its Yesterday again
Trying not to run away from life
Or could it be that I am in search of it
Yesterday again

Its yesterday again why is it that all the bad things come to life
Release me and of course its yesterday again
I dont know whats in store for me
I dont think I care, its yesterday again

Yesterday again

Yesterday again