

Waylon Jennings, Drivin' Nails In The Wall

Here I sit drivin' nails in the wall thinking I hear someone in my hall
She said that she'd be back in no time at all here I sit drivin' nails in the wall

In the dark that stacks around me dreams of you keep pounding me
Leading me to where I've never been
And the voice keeps telling me this could be insanity but I know my name as well as you
Here I sit drivin' nails in the wall...

In the wilted patterns of my mind find that I've left you behind
Sowing up my torn memories
Surviving living three bed room electric kitchen and living room
Just burning and it's on a new free way
Here I sit drivin' nails in the wall thinking I hear someone in my hall
She said that she'd be back in no time at all
When she is back I'm gonna nail to the wall