

Waylon Jennings, You'll Look For Me

There'll come a time girl you'll look for me in each horizon in each face you see
You'll look for love like love used to be there'll come a time girl you'll look for me

Look all around you if you have the time look at me once more if you can
You once said you loved me now you've changed your mind
But you'll change your mind again
There'll come a time girl...
There'll come a time girl...
