

Webb Pierce, I Owe It To My Heart (1959)

I wonder if you'll be the tie to make me wanna cry each night
I'll never know unless we make a start
Why should I be afraid to try you'll either make me laugh or cry
I've got to know I owe it to my herart
Will you walk in my heart today then tomorrow run away
And in our love without a chance to start
If I should win or I should lose it's up to you for I can't choose
I've got to know I owe it to my herart
(fiddle - steel)
I owe it to my heart to find the happiness that can't be mine
And you're the best way I know how to start
Will your kisses last like gold or all at once will they grow cold
I've got to know I owe it to my herart
Will you walk in my heart today...
