

Webb Pierce, Let Me Live A Little

Don't you think I've cried enough swallowed all my pride enough
Don't you think I've tried enough let me live a little Haven't I been fool enough who that cared for you enough Haven't I been true enough let me live a little
In a world away from you there's no life for me
Like this from day to day all those mem'ries that you left me
Open up your arms again let's be sweethearts not just friends
Won't you let forgiveness in let me live a little
In a world away from you...
Let me live a little
