

Webb Wilder, You Might Be Lonely For A Reason

"You Might Be Lonely For A Reason"

You got better looks than most pretty babies
Sharp mind and a real fine frame
But as the years roll by you still got your daddy's name

You crook your finger and the boys come tumbling
Then you're in their dreams night and day
But you leave each one like a hit and run getaway

You might be lonely for a reason
You might be a little bit hard to take
You work so hard to make it hard instead of easy
You might be lonely for a reason

Oh yeah

You've talked on the couch, and you've listened from the pew
Your guru has a funny name
But you're not paying attention or they're just not shooting you straight

You got less warmth than a cheap plastic lighter
You burn with a cold blue flame
You're so close to the vest no one else can play your game

You might be lonely for a reason
You might be a little bit hard to take
You work so hard to make it hard instead of easy
You might be lonely for a reason

Oh yeah
Psychology, theology, philosophy
It's all cryptography
Numerology, spiritology
It's mumbo jumbo baby can't you see

That you might be lonely for a reason
You might be a little bit hard to take
You work so hard to make it hard instead of easy
You might be lonely for a reason
You might be lonely for a reason

Oh yeah