

Weekend Excursion, Angel Window

On the day they let me know
I tried to wake up
I tried to let go
But now in here faced with the pain
Oh where is the sun?
I can't stop the rain

But how can I look back in sorrow?
No memory would let me have
Each new day there comes another tomorrow
A better tomorrow yeah

Jack and I, we sat around the table
We listened to the stories
And we held our laughs in
Our fun then consenated
He continued to writ the fable
But laughs fade away
Our laughs turned to a grin

Those days that we took for granted
Never knew what we had till it was gone
Now we have the chance to give ourselves a better life
Oh yeah

So many words were left unspoken
But in a dream it came to me
I said I blink, you smile, we're two hearts broken
Explain that to me
So many words were left unspoken
But in a dream it came to me
I said I blink, you smile, we're two hearts broken
Its so hard to believe

I said lean out the angel window
In a dream yeah yeah yeah yeah