

Ween, The Argus

Yesterday we lost our lives, tomorrow we were born Fortune smiled upon us, sacrifice the Argus
All that he might help us see

Magna eyes the track for miles, looking for disease Puzzled by the mountains - tricked by the sea and the Argus is practiced compassion with an eye on you, as one is on me will the god eye grant his forgiveness and allow he that's lived, a reason to see

Counting days and building walls, bells ring so's to warn
All the signs that guide us, chosen by the Argus Tell me has chosen you

Led by form we'll shed our soul Trusting like a child
See the dark face that saved us Drink from his empty eyes

and the Argus is practiced compassion
with an eye on you, as one is on me
will the god eye grant his forgiveness letting droplets of light erupt from the sea...

Lying in beds of garlic and orchids, he closes an eye, which closes another and in sleep he dreams, of watching and looking and feather clouds dancing He curls up his lid and sleeps...

Swirling with visions on man's confusion
All of the work, done just to appease him
The Argus he cries, though love has it's place in the sun It's only man's fear that carries him on...
