

Weeping Willows, So It's Over

So it's over
It's over for now
We finally fell asleep, and it's over for now
We argued again, We just couldn't agree
We finally fell asleep, We just let it be
But tomorrow will be another day
An We will have to try another way

Why do We always go wrong?
We could be listening to the lovebird's song
Why can't We never really see
That it's not meant to be You and Me
It's that new day
We've not straightened things out, My love for You fades away
I don't even doubt
And tomorrow could be another day
And I will have to go, go on My own way

So it's over
It's over and gone
I'll have to leave You for good
'Cause this can't go on
And tomorrow must be another day
I know I will have no regrets
'Cause I can't stand to stay
