Weezer, Starstruck

Do you remember the day When I used to play In the back yard When life wasn't so hard? Now times have changed And we're not the same The light inside ourselves got lost in the game But you're all grown up, not goin anywhere But it seems to me that you don't seem to care Still I got my chance to succeed It's my turn to play Watch me be a star now it's ok look at you now, struck by a star look no one's watchin, to find who you are look at you now, struck by a star look no one's watchin, to find out who you are You're still the boy I always knew before Everything's gone and still you want more More of this life, than you deserve Where are all the tears, from the heart's you've burned? look at you now, struck by a star look no one's watchin, to find who you are look at you now, struck by a star look no one's watchin, to find who you are I don't remember that day I never used to play What backyard? Life was never hard Nothing has changed We're the same We're the same We're the same We're the same look at you now, struck by a star look no one's watchin, to find who you are look at you now, struck by a star look no one's watchin, to find who you are
