

Wester, A Wish Upon A Fallen Star

I've fallen short once again
I scream but nobody listens anymore
This isolation is killing me, I cannot mend
The shattered pieces of my broken heart and my mind
I've been forgotten once again
My presence in reality is subtle anyway
How can I ever get to tomorrow when I can't get through today?
My hopes and dreams are a nominal debt to pay
Can you deny this one and only wish I make tonight?
Can you take what's most dear because I am too weak to fight?
This silence is deafening and I feel that I will break
This sorrow deep inside is more than I can take