

Wester, The Magic We Made

it's never like we've read, it's never what we'd hoped but we were content in knowing that this was it.
we were lucky. lucky to have found something inside one another.
something to make this time worth fighting for.
together we made all the rules
forgot the lives we were beginning to lose
the magic we made could never save this place.
look closer and you might find
there's something there you never knew, you never felt before
look closer and you might find
there's nothing left, we lost our chance, now we're all gonna die.
it's never like we'd hoped, it's not like in the movies we're all guilty, we ruined the ending for everyone.
look closer and you might find
there's something there you never knew, you never felt before
look closer and you might find
there's nothing left, we lost our chance, now we're all gonna die.
together we made all the rules
forgot the lives we were beginning to lose
the magic we made could never save this place.
