

Westlife, You Don't Know

(Oh yeah yeah, yeah, yeah yeah, yeah)

Nobody knows me yet everyone knows my name
Some people judge me, not knowing that I'm the same
Thanks for the offer but I keep my old friends always
But then I get lonely, counting the endless days

Are you here for me at all?
Do you care for me at all?
Well this time now I know
I ain't standing alone no more

'Coz all I want is love
Someone who can share the pain I feel
And the eyes that stare
Won't stare at me no more
'Coz all I need is time
Time for me to open up and show
The person I am
The person you think you know
You don't know, you don't know

Some heartfelt emotions, creeping from deep inside
'Coz being this person is all I've got left to hide

Were you here for me at all?
Did you care for me at all?
Last time I was told
I ain't standing alone no more

All I need is love
Someone who can share the pain I feel
And the eyes that stare
Won't stare at me no more
And all I need is time
Time for me to open up and show
The person I am
The person you don't know
You don't know, you don't know