

Wheat, Off The Pedestal

wait there i'll find my shotgun shells and aim to blow your top off the pedestal you're asking me to climb down to your treehouse
and dance
upon the smallest limb
you're asking me to jump and shout and shake myself to the ground i fall upon my head i never seem to get these feet beneath my legs to land up like a cat who's taken back his lives for ones not going right i never was that good but you're asking me to climb down to your tree house
and dance
upon the smallest limb
you're asking me to jump and shout and shake myself to the... i don't want to dance no more and you were never worth the fall