

Why Store, One Size Fits All

Take a little look, tell me what do you see?
Is your future uncertain? Why can't you believe?
Your heart's always wild, always searching for more
You're not meek or mild, so why don't you open the door?
You sing!

Ah!

You were blind in the face, when the fables were told
Caught up in the race for the glory and the gold
Now the ages have passed, but your time has come
There's nowhere to run, there's nowhere to go
You sing!

Ah!

When the morning comes, which way to run?
Hallowed be Thy holy Son
We may be bound to this human ground
But you can't stop the world spinning round 'n' round
They say one size, one size fits all!

Ah!

So what would you do if you were given your wish?
Would you keep the charm or would you pass the dish?
Would you try to run, do you think you could hide?
Would you like me to lead, I can be your guide

You sing

Ah!
