

Why Store, When I'm With You

When I'm with you I forget the winter
When I'm with you, well, baby, I forget the pain
Well, I know the loneliness can starve you blind
And I know loneliness is just a matter of time
Forgetting everything I keep falling in line
The torture it takes me there and you're always on my mind
When I'm with you I forget the winter
When I'm with you, well, baby, I forget the pain
Never thought of anything, oh how the stories bend
Never thought of anything, oh I couldn't comprehend
Thought of every tale I'd tell
Thought of every word I'd say
But deep inside I know it's right
And for now we're on our way
When I'm with you I forget the winter
When I'm with you, well, baby, I forget the pain
A memory of yesterday
A tear in her eye
A smile on her face I see
It's a smile she cannot hide
She pulls me in her arms
Oh, she pushes me aside
Drifts way in her eloquence
Oh, she shifts and slowly sighs
When I'm with you I forget the winter
When I'm with you, well, baby, I forget the pain