Wide Mouth Mason, All It Amounts To

Born in a world that's years away Can you see my face I don't want to stay Yes I'm free but lost today Don't forget to keep my name That's all it amounts to I want to breathe And I want to see So go ahead and keep on crying Till you reach the end of your years While the children die trying Their dreams are your fears