

wigwam, At The End Of The Day

I thought I saw you on the street today
there were no one there just an empty lane.
I was dreaming, dreaming.
I turned around like I never cared cause I&#039;m proud enough, and I ain&#039;t scared.
I&#039;m not lying, lying.

As the night comes along
I just have to be strong
I can make it alone.

So tell me why do I bleed this way.
So tell me why my life has gone astray.
Oh tell me why there&#039;s no turning back.
Nothing left to say at the end of the day.

Today I saw you with another man
as you walked along hand in hand.
I&#039;m not crying, crying.
I&#039;m moving on with my head held high
No one touches me, I can almost fly.
I ain&#039;t lying, I ain&#039;t lying.

As the night comes along
I just have to be strong
I can make it alone.

So tell me why do I bleed this way.
So tell me why my life has gone astray.
Oh tell me why there&#039;s no turning back.
Nothing left to say at the end of the day.

I thought I saw you on the street today
there were no one there, just and empty lane.
I was dreaming, dreaming.

So tell me why.
So tell me why my life has gone astray.
Oh tell me why there&#039;s no turning back.
Nothing left to say at the end of the day.

I ain&#039;t crying, crying, crying over you.
I ain&#039;t crying, crying, crying over you.
There&#039;s nothing left to.
At the end of the day.
There&#039;s nothing left to.
There is nothing left to say.
At the end of the day.
