

Wilburn Brothers, It's A Big Old Heartache

It's a big old heartache loving you
I stay at home and walk the floor while you run around
Knowing that your cheatin' has really got me down
I tell myself I'd had enough and that I'm gonna leave
But either way go or stay I know I'm gonna grieve
It's a big old heartache loving you it's a big old heartache but what can I do
Why if I'd up and left you I'd be twice as blue it's a big old heartache loving you (steel)
I'll just sit alone at home and waiting patiently
For the honky tonks to close the turning of your key
I tell my heart that it's not worth what you put me through
But if I go sweetheart I know I'll come right back to you
It's a big old heartache...
It's a big old heartache loving you
