

Wilburn Brothers, Some Of Your Memories (Hurt

I can never remember the joy we once knew
And I seem to forget all the times you were true
But the moment you left me is still on my mind
Some of your memories hurt me all of the time
The days when you loved me I can never recall
But the nights that you cheated I can remember them all
Oh that last lonely night when you left me here behind
Some of your memories hurt me all of the time
If I could remember heart of the happiness
Then maybe I wouldn't have to cry all alone like this
I'm always thinking of the many times that you lied
Instead of thinking of the many times that you tried
I can't free myself from this prison of mem'ries that bind
Some of your memories hurt me all of the time
Some of your memories hurt me all of the time
