

Wildhearts, Just In Lust

How you been? It's been a while
I heard you found someone to make you smile
Stick around, you got a pen?
It's just so great to see your face again
Take a chair, pull up a glass
Do you remember when I saw you last?
Things have changed with no regret
I'm glad we got to share a little etiquette

One of these days in a classical way I was
Just in lust with you
Shutting out fire where the flame of two lie, I was
Just in lust with you
And all the passion that plays in a chemical haze, I was
Just in lust with you

I know you felt it too

'Cos I miss you, but not that much
We only shared a little human touch
Nothing wrong or impolite
You're acting like pleasures got a copyright
So so so so so backtrack, get the record straight
We only had a day to intimate
No one signed on the dotted line
We never said there'd ever be a second time

One of these days in a classical way I was
Just in lust with you
Shutting out fire where the flame of two lie, I was
Just in lust with you
And all the passion that plays in a chemical haze, I was
Just in lust with you

You know I felt it too

So why the worry, so why the guilt, huh?
So why deny a night under the quilt?
So we were lonely, so we agreed
We only did it for the company

Things is wrong, things is right
Things got a way of changing over night
What's so wrong in turning on?
Instead of being alone when the chances are gone

'Cos it was one of these days in a classical way I was
Just in lust with you
Shutting out fire where the flame of two lie, I was
Just in lust with you
And all the passion that plays in a chemical haze, I was
Just in lust with you

You know
'Cos you
You felt
It too
