

Will Oldham, Take However Long You Want

take however long you want I will be here when you haunt you can wait here forever by the trees alone and I won't be sorry when you're gone take however long you need as times will wait around to be something tall and black and glamorous like about what you would dream but you won't be hanging round with me when you're about to go away lie when they look you in the face laugh and make jokes like the others do and at night I will be hanging out with you

I will be here when you need to leave and I won't be sorry when you go
