

Willie Wisely, Stayin' Home Again

I fought for signs of life behind the crowds
Where flowers die beneath man-made clouds
I swore another year would not go by
And I feel like staying home again
You are just the right medicine
Like long nights staring into white moon
Ill stay long as you want me to
The whole town sings a song that understands
While freeways cut to ribbons all my plans
Ive broken down but now I think Ill stay
Are you for real, lets get real?
And I feel like staying home again
You are just the right medicine
Like long nights staring into white moon
Ill stay long as you want me to
And nowhere is a town Im getting used to
Are you for real, lets get real?
And I feel like staying home again
You are just the right medicine
Like long nights staring into white moon
Ill stay long as you want me to
And no wheres a town Im getting used to
