

Wire Daisies, Everyman

every man every woman wants a lover in their life they would fight for it, die for it every man every woman thinks it only fair love's the light that guides us through the darker days.

gotta laugh: has the morning let you down again ?
wash your hands off it cause they don't know the answers to your prayers you're too scared to fall again lay your hands on me believe that I love you
more than you could ever know my love, you taken over me
more than you could ever know
my love, my love

every man every woman wants a lover in there lifes they would lie for it, die for it you are the one I want to let into my life have you the mind for it
believe that I love you
more than you could ever know
my love, you taken over me
more than you could ever know my love, you taken over
more than you could ever know
my love, you taken over me
more than you could ever know
my love, my love