Wizard, Pain

After a long trip fought for my glory signed by my blood I came along this village to find my eternal freedom

It didn't take a long time And I saw you full of beauty My feelings told me immediately That you are the right woman

Pain that's what love will give you Sooner or later it will be regular

I never thought that I can love Something more than my sword The battle and blood But there was you I thought about you every day Your picture in front of me a dream

It didn't take a long time to demonstrate my affection and we were falling in love we lived our dreams night and day But the end was close
