World On Edge, Burning Bridges

Last night I hurt you I said some things for which I'm only to blame I wish that you never heard me I don't know why I always bite the hand that feeds me Love hurts and you know it, baby It's like a wound that gets deeper every day I know I can't change it That's why the lonely people just throw it all away (chorus) I know one day when time comes around You'll be dancing rhythm, I'll be jerking to the sound. I'm burning bridges behind Everybody's running 'round They're keepin' low and keepin' strong. Even though the day changes A heart that's broken can get lost on a winding road I know I can't help you I just watch the time go by and hope that you are coming home.