World On Edge, Words Touch The Sound

Oh the night falls with the rain I hear you step behind me I can't remember what went wrong Or am I too blind to see (chorus) Don't go away and leave so many words unspoken When the words touch the sound I remember what I said When the words touch the sound I can hear the tears that were shed I hear the echoes in the wind I turn my head to see them...oh And I'll never understand Why I huret the one I need (chorus)