

World4another, Filth

You said come and meet you i had no reason to
there is a fine line
something that you need to find

You'll never break me down never make me drown
my God is real I know
your true filth now shows round, and round we'll go take my words and feel alive

i can't beleive
these words you spit
your so called love
they contradict