

Wynn Stewart, Strings

Words don't get through to you my calls you just ignore
I'm sorry is nothing new to you you've heard those words before
The closest to a human voice is violins they say
So I'm hoping you'll come back to me when you hear them play

These strings must relate to you the sadness that I feel
These strings must create for you a love that is so real
So listen while they sing to you the bluest melody
These strings want to talk to you for me
(violin)
Oh listen while they sing to you the bluest melody
These strings want to talk to you for me