UNFAITHFUL ARMS

Your unfaithful arms will be empty someday
And you'll reach for the love that you just threw away
Your unfaithful arms in time will grow cold
And the nights will be long you'll be all alone with no one to hold
Then when the darkness comes and you cry for the sun
You'll think it's the end but it's only begun
You can't turn back the years when you've lost all your charms
And you'll find this is true for I know that you have unfaithful arms
Yes when the darkness comes well you're gonna cry for the sun
And you'll think it's the end but it's only begun
They may call me a fool to take you back in my arms
But I'll always love you although I know that you have unfaithful arms
Yes I'll always love you though I know that you have unfaithful arms
