

Wynn Stewart, You Told Him

Not long ago I opened up my heart and you walked in Then suddenly I saw my happy day slip away
The talk that's going round has finally found it's way to me
If you loved him why didn't you tell me

But you told him he told them they told me and I believe
They could hear my heart break as I was standing there
You told him he told them they're asking me how can it be
You could love her so much when she don't care

To think I thought I'd finally found true love and it was you
With you my future didn't look so dim
I learned I was your leaning post while you held on to him
And you were telling him the sweet things you once told me

But you told him he told them...