Wyrd, They

Things are different at night They are waiting just out of sight Faces in the window of an empty house Whispers echoing through silent halls

Alone Never alone Alone Never again Alone They'll never leave me Alone They'll never let me be

Things are different at night They are waiting outside the light Reflection in the mirror. Not mine Thoughts inside my head. Not mine