Xspace, Throwing Kisses

by Costin Tuculescu
So few were the days,
when I smelled your hair,
when I touched your skin.
If I could take it all back,
I'd miss it all but you.
But now, the world divides us at our hearts...
somehow...we'll find a way to break the chains!
If I knew back then,
how much I miss you now.
I would have held my breath,
for every scream and shout.
Throw me a kiss and I'll send one back,
since you've been missing its you I lack,
all my roses have turned blue,
but I'll turn it all back for you!