

Year Of The Rabbit, Lie Down

We're just temporary souls in a comic chapter
Scraping out the mold from an old reactor
C'mon pretty baby would you take a taste with me?
Take a taste, take a taste with me

I know just around the corner we can find some action
What the fuck you doin' with that fake reaction?
When all I wanna know is will you take a taste with me?
Take a taste, take a taste with me

If I lied down
Would you lie down?
If I lied down
Would you lie down?

Ah, just wipe the gritty glow off your mouth
With my sleeve
Watch your features change as it fights
Your bloodstream
I was never sure
I could see behind your eyes
I wish I could see behind your eyes

In an ordinary case
This could make me happy
I know it's hard to take
When you can't feel happy
I was never sure
I could see behind your eyes
I wish I could see behind your eyes

If I lied down
Would you lie down?
If I lied down
Would you lie down?

'Cause I will shatter with the glow
That I wash my faith in
And I will scream with overflow
At the rain you dropped in
Damaged, I can sew your sleeves back
Wasted, we can fall through morning
Ruined, you can bring it down
With your same old story

If I lied down
Would you lie down?
If I lied down
Would you lie down?

Damaged, I can't see
Wasted and I can't breathe
Ruined, you could bring it down
If I lied down