

Yesterdays Hero, Falling Down

This world's an ugly place.
So filled with much disgrace.
Can we just save each other from each one another.
It's just our human nature to want to hurt each other.
Can we just clear the memories of distant fears within me.
Can you see your world coming crashing down,
I know it's not your fault but you need someone to blame replace this pain that's been with you for all these years.
Dry out your weeping eyes.
Step back from this disguise.
Pick up the broken pieces of all life's greatest secrets.
This world's a lonely place, so filled with much disgrace.
Can we just clear the memories of distant fears within me.