

Yesterdays Hero, Insight

When I look at You, then I can see just what I want to be.
Then I close my eyes and count to ten that's when I begin.
And I wonder why I often sigh and get tears in my eye.
Then I look up to the sky above and I can feel Your love raining down on me.
It's then that I can see He's inside.
I just can't comprehend how you can see so differently from me.
I used to live just like you, until I found the truth.
I used to question my whole life and what is all this strife.
Asking myself why I'm here but I know that He's near so very close to me.
It's then that I can see He's inside.
Why can't you realize.
Just open up your eyes.
He's Insight.