

Yesterdays Rising, Becoming One With Nature

something's happening because those mountains just confessed to me that they are the most beautiful thing though it might be conceited it's so true, it's so true

the full truth was not told nothing will ever be
as beautiful as the natural

something's happening
because the forests just whispered that their beauty surpasses all and as forward as it may have been i've never heard something so true

the full truth was not told
nothing will ever be
as beautiful as the natural

the sky will be beautiful until the world somehow comes to an end and even then it will find its way through darkness
it's so true, it's so true

the full truth was not told
nothing will ever be
as beautiful as the natural