Yngwie Malmsteen, Crash And Burn

"The smoke has cleared and I'm still standing here my world's gone down in flames but still i have no fear vou've lied you told your tale you tried to make me fail you took your best shot left me to rot through all this I'll never crash and burn lesson learned wearing suits and driving shiny cars you money hungry fools what gives you the right to say who gets to win, who is to lose you've lied you told your tale you tried to make me fail you took your best shot left me to rot through all this I'll never crash and burn lesson learned you're such fools. "
