

Yoda Pop, You And Me And Han

In the middle of the night I woke up, had a bad and scary dream.
I dreamt about a death star very, very big and I woke up with a feminine scream.
Dark forces were gathering to do something mean, like start a war or call Yoda a fruit.
Whatever they will do, we'll be ready for some action and we'll dress us with the courage boot.

So gather all your friends, everyone you know.
Together we sing this song.

Fighting for the world.
Together we are strong.
United we stand for freedom and justice, come along come along.

We are a small band of rebels, fighting a big band of enemy troup.
The ewokes fight by our side and if they die they make a mmm fine soup.
There's not much time before the weapon will be ready to make a boom.
We have to act now for the end is near, and if Wicket can do it then so can you.

So gather all your friends, everyone you know.
Together we sing this song.

Fighting for the world.
Together we are strong.
United we stand for freedom and justice, come along come along.
You and me and Han, and the universe sing our song.
One for all, all for one, come along, come along.

Fighting for the world, together we are strong.
You and me and Han, and the universe sing our song.

Princess Organa has a thing for Han, and Harry has a thing for Ron.
But I'm alone and nobody likes me just mommy, but she is gone.
But I don't care 'cause we have got each other,
I mean you, you, yes you.
So now we'll make a stand yeah, you and me will fight for our freedom a-ooh.

So gather all your friends, everyone you know.
Together we sing this song.

Fighting for the world.
Together we are strong.
United we stand for freedom and justice, come along come along.
You and me and Han, and the universe sing our song.
One for all, all for one, come along, come along