

Yoko Ono, New York Woman

It was getting dark in a snow-covered park,
I thought I saw you smiling.
You left town to marry a Texas millionaire,
I wonder how you are doing.

You were a New York woman,
New York woman,
New York woman,
I love you.

I heard him on the air discussing world affairs,
And something about his global vision.
That's when I wondered if you made the right decision,
I want to know what you're thinking.

You were a New York woman,
New York woman,

New York woman,
I miss you.
You were a New York woman,
New York woman,
New York woman,
I miss you.

I miss you,
I miss you,
I miss you,
I miss you, my friend.

I miss you,
Oh, I miss you,
Oh, I miss you,
Oh, I miss you.