The vision of tomorrow shines, like the mirror on the wall cast an image of my people dancing and survival was the law.
The shadows of the clouds move on, race by as I close my eyes making shapes of our great ancestors, as the daylight leaves the sky.

Sometimes I think we're poor boys here, got no money got no job and at times when I might turn to drink, I lose my head but then I start to think.

Going to pick it up " lift it up.
Going to pick it up " lift it up.
Lift the game a bit " pick it up.
Going to lift it up " pick it up.
