

You Am I, Everyone's To Blame

Lets take on the world, forget that you feel a girl
Once you're away, everyone's still the same
If I could rip at your shirt just to see if it'd hurt
Everyday's golden day, when you've got someone to blame

Could you feel so much in a bus you're sure there's nothing you can trust
Once you're away, everyone stabs the same

Sleep forever on your breast treat everyday now like a test
But you'll still say everyone's to blame