

You're Pretty, Unnoticed

I did not mean to fail you now
Got caught up in this quest for perfection
I won't fade into life's big background
While you get what I cant have

Please lay down and let me pass

I'm so afraid that this won't last
and I can't go on unnoticed

I reacted wrong to your good news
I'm sorry, but you're the one who failed me

Please lay down and let me pass

I'm so afraid that this won't last
and I can't go on unnoticed
Close your eyes and don't look back and I will try to forgive

Take your hand and place it on me
Don't you feel how hollow and empty I am?
I need this to fill me up
You took that
Don't take that away

I did not mean to fail you now
But you got exactly what I want and cannot have
So please lay down
And let me pass
I'm so afraid that this wont last
And I'll go on unnoticed
I did not mean to fail you now