

Your Hero, A Kingdom's Tale

I rule the world from my dark hill
Where everybody left their king
There wasn't pain, the blood never touched the ground from that day
But I was sure that one day, something would have changed but human kind has never been strong enough
And it seems like the sky is falling
Every certainty is lost
Now I watch my kingdom burning in the fire of love
I can't control it anymore
I'm too scared to face the truth
And now I know the real king is inside my chest
And I'm gonna equip this war
Not hiding or pretending, anymore
And it seems like the sky is falling
Every certainty is lost
Now I watch my kingdom burning in the fire of love
I can't control it anymore
I'm too scared to face the truth
Why should I close the gates of my heart
Lock in it, its become a stone
How could I see through my thick window
All the good thinks of this world
And it seems like the sky is falling
Every certainty is lost
Now I watch my kingdom burning in the fire of love
I can't control it anymore
I'm too scared to face the truth
Now I'm watching my kingdom...
Too scared to face the truth